A NEW DRIVER IN THE SEAT

If ever there was a New Deal in the U.S. it is now. If ever there is to be an American Year it will surely be 1961. Today another President will enter the White House—the young, keen, vibrant John Kennedy, with his young Cabinet. He is 43. Their average age is 47.

These are not party hacks. They have not been chosen out of respect or to return a favour. They have been selected because Mr Kennedy believes they are men who will best serve his country and the world. He has been afraid neither of charges of nepotism in appointing his brother to be Attorney-General nor of ingratitude in relegating Mr Adlai Stevenson to Uno. Kennedy has courage, and his head is screwed on the right way.

All this makes a good start to a new term, a new team, and a new year. But President Kennedy has yet to prove himself—and he will be tested and tried enough before long. He and his lieutenants will make mistakes. But they will not be errors springing from tired brains and hardening arteries. Much as we "liked Ike" we must admit that his second term—particularly in its closing stages—was dull and weary. Now we look for ideas and inspiration from a Government who have history on their side. Mr Kennedy's first year as President is the centenary of the outbreak of the American Civil War. It was in April 1861 that the guns at Fort Sumter heralded what was, up to then, the most terrible war in history. As a result of it a million Americans died. But a nation had been forged in the fires.

The coming commemoration will have a tremendous impact upon the American people. How could it be otherwise—especially when they recall the immortal deeds and words of Abraham Lincoln? Without him, without that war, they could never have become what they are today. As Dean Rusk, the new Secretary of State, says: "The U.S. is not a raft tossed by winds and waves over which it has no control... what it does or does not do makes a great deal of difference to man in this epoch."

This is true. Older countries, like Britain, have the experience, but the U.S., in 1961, has the power. This we learned last year when the careful diplomacy of Mr Macmillan was ruined by American bungling and Russian anger. Now Mr Khrushchev, in a cordial New Year message to Mr Kennedy, says he is willing to forget the U-2 incident, which wrecked the Summit.

Such things are easy to say. But this is, at any rate, a step forward rather than backward, and a promise instead of a threat. And it has been made because of the change of Government in Washington. There will be no speedy Summit or easy negotiations. The Congo, Algeria, Laos, Cuba, and the arms race present a sombre scene. But President Kennedy will see in it an opportunity—and not a reason for despair.

Let us hope that perhaps towards the end of his term (or term), he may be able to say with Lincoln: "Pence will come soon, and come to stay, and so come as to be worth keeping in all future time."

Pratt tries to escape

Bloemfontein, Jan. 19. David Beresford Pratt, the Englishman who shot and wounded the South African prime minister, Dr Hendrik Verwoerd, in Johannesburg last April tried to escape here today, police said.

When taken by two prison warders to a Bloemfontein dentist, he ran out of the surgery into the street and hid behind display rack in a department store.

Warders found him and took him back to the surgery.

Pratt, 51, a wealthy farmer, was committed to Pretoria jail last September after a Supreme Court judge found him to be mentally disordered.

The following month, Pratt was moved from the jail to a mental hospital here.—Reuters.

German tank units
report discounted

London, Jan. 20. Britain's Defence Ministry today discounted reports that Britain has already given West Germany the go-ahead to send panzer units to train here.

Reports appearing in British newspapers said about 500 soldiers equipped with about 40 tanks will start manoeuvres here probably this summer.

The Daily Mail and the Daily Express said the Bundeswehr troops will use 6,000 acres of manoeuvre ground at Castle Martin, in Pembrokeshire, Wales.

They said the British offer emerged from talks in London on Thursday between visiting West German defence chief Gen. Adolph Heusinger and British officials.

But a Defence Ministry spokesman said today:

"No decisions have been taken yet on German bases here and the reports appear to be just guesses."

Britain, however, is soon expected to announce details of training facilities it will grant to German military units.—AP.

Youth had

London, Jan. 20. Police today announced the arrest of a 19-year-old youth on charges of possessing secret official documents.

The youth, Bryan Scott, a translator, was held in custody pending court appearance later today.

Scotland Yard declined to give any details of Scott's arrest—or to state what documents he was alleged to have carried.—Reuters.

BUCHENWALD
MAN GIVES PENSION FOR CONGO RELIEF

London, Jan. 19. A former concentration camp prisoner who fought for 15 years to get a pension from the German Government today turned the whole of his pension over to the Oxford Committee for Famine Relief's Congo Fund, the committee announced here today.

Last year, after a long legal battle to prove his right to a pension for injuries suffered in Buchenwald, the man was awarded £124-0 a month.

After seeing a television film of the famine conditions in the Congo the man instructed his bank to make over the pension regularly to the Congo Fund.—Reuters.

No money
if Red or Socialist

London, Jan. 19. Before Major Jeffreys can inherit the £138,000 fortune left him by his grandfather General Lord Jeffreys he has to satisfy the trustees of the estate that he is not a Socialist or a Communist.

In his will, Lord Jeffreys said no beneficiaries should be Socialist or Communist—"both of which doctrines I believe to be dangerous to the State".

Major Jeffreys said that as a serving soldier he was not allowed to express any political opinions, but he did not think the provision in the will would debar him from his inheritance.

General Lord Jeffreys was a descendant of one of the most notorious judges in English history, "Hanging Judge Jeffreys", claimed he had sentenced more traitors to death than all his predecessors since the Norman Conquest of 1066. This was after an unsuccessful 17th century rebellion by the Duke of Monmouth against King James II.—China Mail Special.

Flood in Djakarta

Djakarta, Jan. 19. About 73,000 people were driven from their homes by floods when a heavy rainstorm hit Djakarta on Tuesday. Some areas of the capital were under three feet of water and traffic was at a standstill.—Reuters.

Prince Andrew, now 11 months old, smiles and gurgles happily in the lap of his mother, the Queen. He is all unaware that his mother, with her husband the Duke of Edinburgh, will leave him behind today, when they fly out from London Airport for a six-week tour of India, Pakistan and Iran.—Express photo.

UK MINERS
GET PAY INCREASE

London, Jan. 19. The Coal Board and miners leaders today agreed on pay increases adding an extra £7.5 million to the industry's annual wages bill.

The board will apparently try to absorb the increased wages bill because a spokesman said it did not intend to increase prices.

The rises are eight shillings a day for day wage men, between 11 and 15 shillings a day for craftsmen; and 11 shillings a day for day working engine drivers.

In addition, night-shift employment with meal duties will have their shift allowance increased by one shilling. This will give them another five shillings a week.

Today's talks, in which Mr Alfred Roberts, the board's chairman-designate, took part, went on for three hours before the miners' executive agreed to recommend that their areas accept the nationalised industry's offer.

The wage talks were adjourned yesterday after miners' leaders rejected an offer of seven shillings and sixpence rise for day wage men and ten shillings to 13 shillings, according to deal for craftsmen.

The National Union of Mineworkers had asked for increases of 10 shillings for 340,000 day wage men and 30 shillings for 65,000 craftsmen.

Kennedy's last minute rush

Washington, Jan. 19.

Mr John Kennedy takes the oath as the nation's 35th President tomorrow before thousands of Americans who may have to stand in snow to watch him solemnly swear to "preserve, protect and defend" the Constitution.

With the frenzied capital jammed for the inauguration a steady fall of snow began this afternoon. Swirling through two hours of deals with the trolley-decked streets, it threatened to blanket the city before the noon swearing-in ceremonies tomorrow.

About two hours after it started snowing, inaugural parade streets and other avenues were covered and visibility in the White House area was limited to two blocks at best. A snow emergency was declared and government workers were dismissed for the day on hour early.

Crowded schedule

Despite the weather, Mr Kennedy ploughed through a crowded schedule with customary calm reserve on his last day before accepting the nation's highest honour. He said he was "feeling fine, very good."

The 43-year-old New Englander also announced administration appointments, held a somewhat disappointing conference with AFL-CIO leaders, attended a reception for State governors, and scheduled appearances at a party for Mrs Eleanor Roosevelt and an inaugural concert.

But the snow and traffic-jammed streets forced him to cancel plans for dinner at the home of Mr Philip Graham, President and Publisher of the Washington Post and Times Herald.

The gay inaugural spirit was marred somewhat by Mr Kennedy's apparent failure to soothe the ruffled feelings of AFL-CIO leaders during his meeting with them.—UPI.

The market was a little higher and active at the opening following yesterday's good rally. It remained narrowly higher to the close.

Most gains ranged from a few cents to around one dollar a share, and there were a good many losers in the same range. After being strong most of the day, the rails gave ground in the final hour and closed lower on average. The industrials were up slightly and the utilities down a bit at the close.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell .20 to 229.40. The Dow Jones 30 Industrials were down 1.71 at 302.30.

Germany is top car exporter

Frankfurt, Jan. 19.

West Germany remained the world's leading car exporter in 1960 but domestic sales grew faster than those abroad.

The Association of the German Automobile Industry announced today that the total output in 1960 was 2,055,000 cars and trucks, an increase of 10.6 per cent over 1959. Of these, 983,000 or 47.8 per cent were exported.

The figures indicated a higher production growth rate compared to 1959. Domestic sales increased by 26.5 per cent while the increase in exports was only 18.8 per cent.—AP.

Australia to deport four on vice charge

Canberra, Jan. 19. Four migrants who lived off the immoral earnings of girls in Melbourne would be deported, Immigration Minister Mr Alex Downer announced today.

He said proceedings would be taken against a fifth man under legislation permitting deportation orders but allowing an appeal to an independent authority.

Mr Downer said he was making the announcement in the public interest following revelations of alarm in Victoria at the crimes of procuring young women and living on the earnings of prostitution.

Mr Downer added that at least half the persons convicted of this type of offence in Victoria in the last four years were Australians.

Prostitution

Mr Downer's action follows a police campaign in Victoria to stamp out cases of female prostitution. Police said immigrants and others operating from expresso coffee bars were procuring Australian girls for prostitution. The revelations caused a storm in Melbourne and police sent a special messenger to the state government which made representations to Mr Downer.

Mr Downer said immigrants who made themselves liable for crimes of vice would certainly be considered for deportation.

In Adelaide today, police announced they had smashed what they called "a highly organised prostitution racket operating in the city and suburbs."

Of equal interest to jewellers is the Queen's wardrobe, always a subject for close scrutiny on royal tours.

The styles of the Queen's clothes like her jewellery are being kept secret, but the general belief here, however, is that she will wear mainly whites and pastel shades at outdoor functions.

There has also been press speculation here that the Queen might break further with tradition and take the opportunity of her visit to wear a brilliantly coloured sari on a large public occasion.

Whatever the final choice is to be, it can be taken for granted that, as in the past—her clothes will command worldwide attention.

Any innovation she makes will be copied in every continent within a few weeks by wholesale fashion houses large and small.—China Mail Special.

Australian bid for guided missile destroyers

Melbourne, Jan. 20. The Australian Cabinet will shortly consider a plan to equip the Royal Australian Navy with guided missile destroyers, the Melbourne morning newspaper The Age said today.

The newspaper's Canberra correspondent wrote that the Navy as reported to be prepared to forego buying the three modern submarines it has been seeking if the government would allow it to buy several guided missile destroyers. The cost of these destroyers was believed to be from £A15 million (£12 million) to £A20 million (£16 million).

The Cabinet had deferred consideration of equipping the Navy with submarines and guided weapons destroyers last November, the correspondent said.

It then decided to equip the aircraft carrier Melbourne (10,000 tons) as an anti-submarine helicopter carrier, build a modern survey ship and buy six modern minesweepers.—Reuters.

Germany's training needs in Britain

London, Jan. 19. The West German government has submitted to the British Defence Ministry a list of its requirements for training facilities for its armed forces in Britain, an authoritative source said here today.

The source said the requirements were discussed in general terms between General Heusinger, Chief of Staff of the Federal German Armed Forces, with Admiral of the Fleet Earl Mountbatten, chief of the British Defence Staff, yesterday.

Officials said today that the German requirements had not yet been stated in full detail.

A Defence Ministry spokesman here said they would not be negotiated during General Heusinger's present three-day visit to Britain.

General Heusinger, who will shortly become Chairman of the Nazi Permanent Military Committee in Washington, came to Britain yesterday to visit British defence establishments.

The spokesman said it was hoped the talks would be held at the end of next month or the beginning of March discussions on German requirements would start under Atlantic Pact auspices between experts in Paris.—Reuters.

Citizen's move on human embryo experiment 'CHARGE THEM WITH MURDER'

Italy
asked to act

Naples, Jan. 19. The Italian state prosecutor has been asked to file a murder charge against three Italian scientists who experimented with the fertilisation of human eggs in test tubes.

A private citizen lodged the complaint. It will not necessarily be acted upon. Under Italian law, any person can make a denunciation to police of someone they suspect of committing crime.

Antonio Mirra, 43-year-old Naples tax collector, filed a denunciation with Naples police against Bologna Doctors Daniele Petrucci and Raffaele Bernabò, and Chemist Laura De Paoli.

The complaint was forwarded by Naples police on Tuesday to the prosecutor of the Bologna Tribunal, who has so far taken no action.

400 times

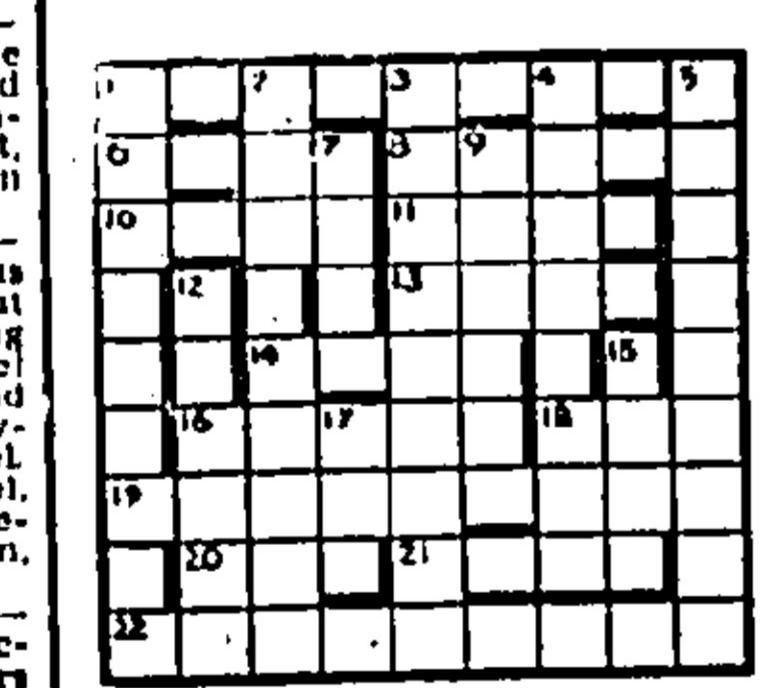

Dr. Petrucci and his two assistants announced last week that they had successfully fertilised human eggs in test tubes 400 times.

One time, they said the human embryo grew to the age of 29 days.

After 29 days, Dr. Petrucci said, he destroyed the embryo because it had become misshapen and grotesque.

In his denunciation, the tax collector alleged that the destruction of the 29-day-old embryo was infanticide, according to Italian penal code.—AP.

Air links with HK planned

Washington, Jan. 19. President Eisenhower today approved a Civil Aeronautics Board recommendation to let trans-World Airlines extend an Atlantic-Europe-Southeast Asia route to Hongkong. This will permit TWA passengers to get connecting service on Northwest or Pan-American to Japan and the United States. It would be the second combination air-and-world service on U.S. carriers.

BRITISH PLAN
Meanwhile, in London, British United Airways, an independent airline, today announced plans to begin its first scheduled flights to the Far East this year, providing they receive government approval for an expanded service from Gatwick.

The airline also plans to purchase nine new jet aircraft, four long-range and five short-range, if their proposals are approved.

Under their new proposals long-range hauls would be made to the two Far Eastern centres of Hongkong and Singapore. UPI & Reuter.

WHEN YOU'VE BEEN IN THE TOP JOB IT'S HARD TO FIND YOUR FEET AGAIN

By RICHARD O'FARRELL

AFTER John Fitzgerald Kennedy is inaugurated as 35th President of the United States today, outgoing President Dwight David Eisenhower will step from one of the world's highest political positions to relative obscurity.

Many of the former tenants of the White House, having had their fill of politics, find it almost impossible to return to their profession, and follow other pursuits.

The two other living ex-Presidents, Truman (1945-53) and Hoover (1929-33) are widely published writers, and Eisenhower's much-read Crusade in Europe will be followed by his memoirs as Chief Executive.

Lecturer

Some of the ex-Presidents turned to education.

Millard Fillmore (1850-53) became the first Chancellor of the University of Buffalo, while Rutherford Hayes (1877-81) was elected trustee of Ohio State university.

Harry Truman regularly lectures at various colleges, and William Howard Taft (1909-13) taught at Yale, later becoming Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Ulysses S. Grant (1869-77) was the only ex-President who seriously tried to become successful in private business. His efforts met with complete failure, and Grant became penniless.

It's a new phobia: falling into space

A NEW nervous complaint called "space-phobia" — fear of being thrown off the earth into outer space—is now put on medical record.

Dr Raphael Kerr, a Shetland psychiatrist, reports four cases of intelligent men and women who developed space-phobia after reading about satellite launches or watching them on TV.

One 33-year-old schoolmaster, a bit burly man, told Dr Kerr that he feared he would float off the earth and end up in orbit.

"It's space that's getting me—the curvature of the globe makes everything insecure," he explained. "We are surrounded by a hostile envelopement."

Some patients fear that the earth is about to be pushed off its axis or collide with another planet. They believe that satellite launches increase these risks.

A married woman aged 29 said she was worried "about all the collisions there might be up in outer space because of this indiscriminate sending up of satellites."

The growing preoccupation with outer space is one of the features of our present civilization," Dr Kerr reports. "It is not surprising that it should enter into the manifestation of certain neurotic symptoms."

The men all set for glittering achievement

EVERY medical scientist who works on any project that promises to be an important discovery comes, at some stage in his research, to the time of crucial experiment.

This experiment decides whether the discovery is of no more than academic interest or whether it breaks open the way for a broad advance in the assault on suffering. It also determines whether the scientist's name will be immortalised . . . or merely indexed among the thousands of averagely able workers in the musty journals of the medical libraries.

For Glasgow-born Dr Allick Isaacs, 39, of the National Institute for Medical Research at Mill Hill, London, 1961 is to be the year of the crucial experiment.

The possibilities are glittering.

A successful result could mean the production of the first drug capable of defeating the scourges caused by viruses—the ultra-microscopic organisms which are unaffected by penicillin and similar agents. Influenza, the common cold, polio, measles, smallpox, mumps, yellow fever, foot-and-mouth disease are but the best known of scores of virus complaints affecting man and his animals.

As with most advances,

Dr Isaacs' exciting work is based on a long-known but little explored academic fact—that when a virus of, say, influenza invades a living cell it prevents the entry of any other virus.

Success could also mean the founding of a great new pharmaceutical industry bringing big royalties to Britain. And, mistily, on the horizon, there is even the possibility of a new clue to the riddle of cancer.

As with most advances,

Dr Isaacs' exciting work is based

NEW DEAL FOR SLIMMERS

by
Jane Rogers

WANT to lose those vital inches that make all the difference between elegance and elephantine proportions? You couldn't have picked a better year for starting work on yourself—1961 sees the start of a new deal for the slimmer.

This business of losing weight quickly and safely has become such an important industry that health clubs are mushrooming, places where women can get together and lose weight the easy way, in company. For far too many women have discovered that a diet is not enough—you may lose inches in the wrong places. It's exercise that does the trick.

I investigated the largest and shiniest club of the lot, which opened only a few weeks ago in Oxford, London. It is run by a Canadian corporation who have a chain of salons all over the world. They plan to open a lot more.

What's it like to join a slimming club? First of all, when you check in at the desk a tape-measure is cast over you and your worst fears are confirmed. Then they put you on a schedule of work—usually a weight-reducing one.

From then on, in the company of women of all shapes and sizes, you work your way through weight-lifting, bicycling and sessions at the rollers, finishing with a few minutes in the steam room and a shower.

How long before you see results? "You should lose two inches or more within 60 days—if you persevere!" Mickey Del Monte, a Canadian-born actress, told me. "Some people lose unwanted inches even more quickly, though. It depends on how hard they work."

How often do you need to go? Some of the women I

For Town they are using black, white and brown smudged prints for sleek straight dresses. These are partnered by matching jackets, shirt-waisters in a now sophisticated version of the classic Paisley pattern and a hundred and one variations of the check, including an interesting brown and white plaid.

For the Country there are shirts and skirts, pants too in tawny golden-brown shades or lightweight topcoats made from washable pre-cooked cotton to stand up to the rain.

For the beach there's the brightest, gayest crop of separates that I've seen for a long time. They include a cute tent-shaped dress that you can use as a tent to change in, a huge fringed Poncho top made from a new terry-towelling jersey and the latest thing in swimsuits, a light-weight blue denim.

Two new hats for 1961 with the two-tone look about them. Left: A chic version of the Paris beret in fur foil slotted through with ciro leather comes in twelve colours. By Walmar. Right: Another brimless hat which sits on top of the head, is trimmed by a giant twist of Laichow braid. By Walmar.

For evening there were amazingly inexpensive cotton party dresses that didn't shriek "summer" and could be worn all the year round. They ranged from a classic dinner gown in heavy ribbed cotton with long tight sleeves and scooped out neckline to the prettiest young party dress I have seen for a long time. It was made in grey woven cotton that looked very much like denim, and darted in to fit the figure closely. To balance its full, gathered skirt was a scooped out top edged by dozens of pale pink Victorian-style ruffles. It was just the sort of dress that every girl of 16 ought to wear—but won't, of course.

STORIES FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Mary-Jane's Birthday

The Only Present She Really Wants Is A Kiss

By MAX TRELL

MARY-JANE, the Rag Doll, said it was her birthday. How did she know?

Well, this is how it happened that she knew.

All have birthdays

Knarf and Handi, the Shadow Children with the Turned-Around Names, and Teddy, the Stuffed Bear, and Mr. Punch, and his wife, Judy, and General Tin, the Soldier, all told Mary-Jane that everyone in the world had a birthday once every year.

"And you have one, too," Handi told her.

Mary-Jane, who was sitting on the floor with her back against the leg of the chair, had a very pleasant smile painted on her olive-coloured face.

Glad to hear it

She said she was very glad to hear that everyone in the world had a birthday every year and that she had one, too.

"But what day should I have it on?" she asked.

"When were you born?" asked Teddy, the Stuffed Bear. "That's your birthday—the day you were born on."

"Now, what day was I born on?" Mary-Jane murmured to herself.

Rupert and the Purple Star—46

Picking out their landmarks, Rupert and Bill find the spot where they put the starfish into the water. There is no sign of it now, but they call to Sailor Sam who hurries to them wearing his gull boots and carrying a wooden pail, wooden-handled oars and his

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

It was immediately decided to give Mary-Jane a birthday party. Everyone in the Playroom was invited.

Mr. Punch's wife Judy made a birthday cake out of jelly, doughnuts and whipped cream and bananas and cherries.

"It's called a Trifle," Judy told everyone.

But Mary-Jane couldn't eat any of her own cake because she was a Rag Roll and all she could eat were bits and pieces of cloth.

But everyone else enjoyed the wonderful birthday cake.

Then Knarf and Teddy, the Stuffed Bear, and Hawawha, the Small-Sized Wooden Indian, blew whistles and harmonicas and beat drums and sang all at the same time.

"It's a square dance," said Handi to Mary-Jane.

Couldn't dance

It's wonderful," said Mary-Jane as she sat back in the middle of the enormous sofa and watched all her birthday guests dancing. Being a Rag Doll, she wasn't able to dance herself.

Then General Tin gave Mary-Jane a bouquet of flowers. But the flowers were too big for Mary-Jane to hold.

And Handi gave Mary-Jane a pair of gloves, but Rag Dolls can't wear gloves.

Punch's gift

Then Mr. Punch gave Mary-Jane a beautiful book with pictures in it, but Mary-Jane couldn't use the book because she couldn't read and she wasn't even able to turn the pages.

And the rest of them tried to give her other birthday gifts but Mary-Jane had to keep saying:

"No, thank you. No, thank you." "But, Mary-Jane," said Handi, "we've got to give you some presents or it won't be a real birthday." "I know," sighed Mary-Jane.

What's her wish?

"What do you most want?" Handi asked. "Just tell us and we'll give it to you."

And Mary-Jane's smile, which never left her face because it was painted on, seemed actually to grow bigger as the answered:

"All I want is a kiss."

JACOBY on BRIDGE

TAKE a look at the North hand only. You open one heart and your partner responds one spade. Your correct rebid is two diamonds and you make that bid. Now your partner bids two no-trump. What should you do?

This looks like one of the "Card Sense" problems, but it is given here because it belongs with the discussion of sign-offs. North should sign off by passing! If North feels like making a further bid his further bid should be three no-trump, not three diamonds or three hearts.

The reason North should not bid in one of his suits is that South has already heard him bid both of them and South has shown no interest. A rebid in a red suit in this sequence

And the rest of them tried to give her other birthday gifts but Mary-Jane had to keep saying:

RAPIER'S RACING COMMENTS

2-day Seventh Meeting opens tomorrow

PATTERSON, JOHANSSON SIGN UP FOR MARCH 13 FIGHT

New York, Jan. 19. Floyd Patterson, world heavyweight boxing champion, and challenger Ingemar Johansson of Sweden signed an agreement to meet in Convention Hall at Miami Beach, Florida, on March 13, before a battery of cameras in a midtown hotel today.

The agreement differed from the usual fight contract in that it said only that the two would meet. The fighters, not their managers or advisers, signed. The only other signature on the document was that of D. Lee Powell, Mayor of Miami Beach.

Alone

The agreement said that each would receive 25 per cent of the gate receipts and that other financial agreements had been reached with Feature Sports, Inc.

Patterson arrived at the scene early with his attorney, Julian Nissim. His manager, Gus D'Amato, was not present. Johansson was alone throughout the ceremony.

The Swede, who knocked out Patterson for the title in their 1959 meeting and then lost the title back to Patterson in their second bout, said he would leave later today for Miami and would spend several days in Fort Lauderdale as the guest of Gustav Von Reis. He will not return to Sweden until after the bout.

Weighed 205 lbs

Johansson said he now weighed 205 pounds and hoped to weigh about 180 for the bout. He said his family would come to Florida in about two weeks.

Later Roy Conn, a director of FSI, said that Patterson would receive half of all the money produced by the sale of television, radio and movie rights to the fight. Johansson will get 35 per cent but will return a specified sum to FSI in return for 100 per cent of all money taken in Sweden.

Conn said he estimated the total receipts likely would be five million dollars. The second meeting of the two fighters, last June, aggregated $3,400,000.

$1m share

November said the champion might receive a gross of $800,000. Johansson calculated with an estimate of a million dollars for his cut.

Patterson said he had both written and verbal statements from Miami Beach and Convention Hall officials that there would be no racial segregation among the spectators.

Conn then said that FSI had put $10,000 on deposit in a bank as a guarantee to Patterson that the crowd would be non-segregated.

"If in Floyd's opinion there is segregation, the money goes to the National Association for the Advancement of Coloured People," Conn said.

Patterson will continue training for the next three weeks at Spring Valley, New York, before going south. He said he had not yet picked a Florida base.—AP.

LAST-MINUTE TIPS FOR CHEUNG CHI-DOY

Cheung Chi-doy, of Hongkong the first full Chinese to play in the Football League, had his first front-line chance last Saturday, as outside-left for Blackpool against Wolverhampton Wanderers. But after only nine minutes of play, with the score 0-0, the match was abandoned owing to fog.

Blackpool manager Ronnie Stuart, whose team are out of the Cup and next to bottom of the League, had hoped that in Saturday's match against Wolves, Cheung and Stanley Matthews at outside-right would "go together like chopsticks and rice".

Shouting, 'kissing and cuddling' on field criticised by FA

London, Jan. 19. Shouting, 'kissing and cuddling' by professional footballers when goals are scored was sharply criticised today by the English Football Association in its current official journal.

Drawing attention to the growing 'exuberance' among players when goals are scored, the FA News said in its editorial: "This practice, more colourfully described as 'kissing and cuddling' is recurring."

"Another, which we feel is equally no advertisement for the game, is that shouting on the field and this too has become almost a common place—indeed it is being encouraged by many managers."

"We do not particularly wish to strike attitudes and be unctuous about these things, but we believe firmly that if they do not quite bring the game into disrepute, they are certainly not winning it friends."

The journal added: "Modern football is played under much tension. In important Championship matches, in Cup ties and international matches, the tension can be so severe emotional outbursts for any player and his delight in the breaking of great tension by scoring a goal or seeing a goal scored is entirely understandable."

"But the embracing and mobbing of the goalscorer is entirely unnecessary."

"Shouting on the field—often reduced to bawling—is even less necessary."

"Voice-control as well as ball-control is needed in football!"—China Mail Special.

EDINBURGH & PROMINENT VIEW SHOULD FIGHT OUT ISSUE IN MAIN RACE

The Royal Hongkong Jockey Club's Seventh Race Meeting, which will be held over two consecutive Saturdays, opens tomorrow with a programme of eight events. The second day's programme, consisting of another eight events, will be run off on Saturday, January 28.

The first saddling bell tomorrow will be rung at 1.30 p.m., and the first race will start at 2.00 p.m. sharp.

The Quarry Bay Handicap for Class 2 horses over 1 Mile 3 furlongs 63 Yards is the most attractive race of the afternoon. Here are my estimates of the chances:

FIRST RACE

Repulse Bay Handicap: One Mile.

Novice jockeys will be on view in this opening event and they will be called upon to handle Class 1 horses.

For the win over the mile in the Brightside Handicap (Second Section) of the 4th Race Meeting, Famorin (J. S. C. Noel) has been penalised by 3 lbs, but in view of its good form during morning gallops, I don't think this extra weight will stop it from winning.

The strongest opposition will come from Splendid which will be ridden by S. W. H. Ho. The pony is certainly very fit at the moment and should be a strong challenger.

Native Prince was third in the Half Mile Post Once Round and in the 6th Race Meeting, and may do better here, then one expects.

Bonita and Apex are well tuned up for this race and are not to be overlooked as ponies likely to upset Gold Badge.

SECOND RACE

Clear Water Bay Handicap: Six Furlongs.

The draw for positions and the ability to get off quickly at the start will prove important factors in this race confined to Class 8 horses.

Game Pie (K. Kwok) is expected to annex this event with Dalny (T. H. Yau) finishing a likely second.

For the third position I fancy Ambition (Alex Lam). Wise Leader (Ringo Lam) should figure prominently at the finish if given a good getaway.

THIRD RACE

Deep Bay Handicap (First Section): One Mile.

In this race confined to Class 3 horses, I think Pixie (K. Kwok) has advanced in condition to be the best in this race.

Without due major contention should come from Satellite (H. K. Hung) which, at 138 lbs, will take a lot of beating.

Jesse (Chun Kit) has been doing track work lately and its chances are bright. Other dangerous opponents in this race are Renown (D. Wayne) and Oriental Pearl (Albert Lam).

FOURTH RACE

Silver Mine Bay Handicap (First Section): From 1½ Mile Post.

Grand Moment (K. Kwok) is the logical choice for this sprint event for Class 2 ponies, but Permanent View (H. C. Pih) will be there or thereabouts at the finish.

Descot (Albert Lam) is another noted speedster should also do well here, while Norse Prince (D. Wayne), with only 134 lbs. to handle, looks dangerous.

FIFTH RACE

Quarry Bay Handicap: 1m. 3 furl.

This is the main event of the afternoon and is confined to Class 2 horses.

Edinburgh (D. Wayne) and Permanent View (H. C. Pih) should fight out the finish in this race.

Hippona (Albert Lam) has shown good form in morning gallops and should do well if properly handled on the way.

WEEKEND SOFTBALL

USS Stoddard take on Cheyennes in HK debut

By OLLY VAS

The softball games which are scheduled to be played off at King's Park this week are not likely to arouse too much spectator interest since all the results will hardly affect the various league standings.

The New Asia College are a much improved side these days and the lanky Japanese player Takahashi's tremendous hitting form has certainly been a morale booster for his team-mates.

U.S. invitations for Sirola and Pietrangeli

New York, Jan. 19. Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola, veteran members of the Italian Davis Cup team, have been invited to play in the U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championships at the Seventh Regiment Armory, on Feb. 9-13.

Pietrangeli and Sirola teamed up to upset the United States Davis Cup team in the Inter-Zone Final at Perth early last month, then bowed to Australia in the Challenge Round at Sydney.

OTHER STARS

"Both of the Italians are experienced indoor players," said tournament director Larry Hirsch.

In addition to the Italians, catch out-tarding players as Roy Emerson of Australia, Billy Knight of England, Dick Savill of New York, and Dennis Nelson of Bakersfield, California are expected to compete in this year's indoor championships.—UPI.

If he keeps hitting at his present pace the White Sox outfit will be kept very busy. The two dozen sides clash tomorrow at the 2.00 p.m. session and as both sides have lost five matches to date the outcome will decide which team is to drop to the bottom of the league cellar.

On present form and with a 14-3 victory over the Sox already to their credit the Collogians are the logical choice to win.

Trouble

The 9.30 am Sunday game features the Toreros and the SCAA second string, Nam Wah Blues. The first round meeting resulted in the Toreros inflicting a no-hit, no-run defeat on the opposition, and the winners tallied 13 times against the luckless Caroliners.

They should register another easy victory. The Junior Pandas are having trouble these days in getting enough players out on the field at game time.

They have given two walkovers in as many weeks and if they do not show up this Sunday at 11.00 am to keep their appointment with the Wolves it would come as no surprise if the governing body suspends them.

front further participation in the league competition. We shall have to wait and see whether or not the Pandas will put in an appearance.

At 1.30 pm the American sailors from the current station ship, the USS "Stoddard," make their debut in local softball and as nothing is known of their playing standard any pre-game forecast would be a rash move.

Token opposition

In any case Berlin Gorano's Cheyennes, mathematically, in with a chance to force a play-off for the Senior title, will not be taking things easy. The Cheyennes have already dropped two decisions and they cannot afford to lose one more.

To wind up the day the youthful Stardusts, capably managed by Lionel Dayaram and coached by Peter d'Almeida, take on the Antelopes. This 3.00 pm game should go the way the first meeting between these two teams did, when the Stardusts trounced the Servicemen 22-5 in five innings.

The soldiers are not expected to put up more than token opposition but it is always a refreshing sight to see Barry Marshall and his boys play softball for like their "brother" team the Austers, the Antelopes play their hearts out. In every match irrespective of how many runs they are being scored against them.

They are certainly gaining playing experience but my, what a high price they are paying for it!

Fulham's first goal

Palmer gets the sportsmen's vote

By RICHARD BERRY

Who is the world's top sportsman? This is the season when such choices are traditionally made and I am not surprised to see that several sporting organisations, magazines and newspapers have awarded the crown to American golfer Arnold Palmer.

Last year, his numerous successes included the American Open and Master's titles, and he won more than £30,000—a record for any golfer.

Yet he is a most humble and approachable man.

STARTED AT THREE

He started playing at the age of three with a cut-down golf club under the critical eyes of his father, pro at a Pittsburgh country club.

At seven he vowed: "I'm going to be a great golfer like Bobby Jones one day."

At college, Palmer amused himself by playing top-class golf round the campus course while hitting every shot standing on his left foot.

In 1954 he won the American amateur title and decided to turn professional, a decision which has netted him an increasing share of the £300,000 prize money available yearly on the American circuit.

His life in the circuit season is a tough routine of practice, tournament play, and driving to the next match with his wife, Winnie, and children, Peggy four, and Amy two.

A TRUE CHAMPION

With 40 tournaments a year, home for the Palmers means the nearest motel most of the time.

His mental approach to life is that of a true champion. He says: "If you relax, you blow the tournament. I get no enjoyment unless the pressure is on. The bigger the tournament, the better I play; the more rugged the competition the better I like it. When I get on a tough golf course I feel as if I am wrestling a bear."—Central Press.

PETER SNELL MAY STUDY IN ENGLAND

By JOHN COTTRELL

The world's top half-miler, as well as the best miler, are likely to be running in Britain next summer.

Herb Elliott, undergraduate at Jesus College, Cambridge, may be joined by Olympic 800-metre champion Peter Snell, who plans to study quantity surveying in Britain.

Snell has doubts been influenced by the fact that Britain's running facilities, though by no means ideal, are far superior to anything in his home country, New Zealand.

In Britain, on cinder tracks, 21-year-old Snell will have a far greater chance of breaking American Tom Courtney's half-mile world record—a feat which, he predicts, he will achieve this year.

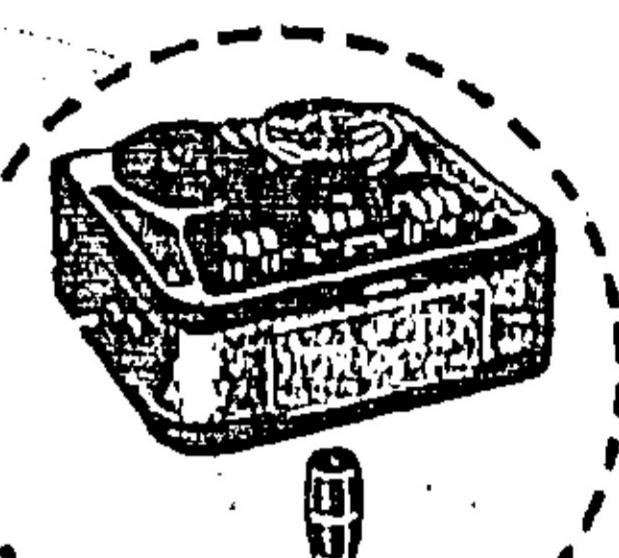

Meanwhile, the Olympic success of their athletes Snell, Murray Halberg and Barry Magee, has greatly stimulated athletic interest in New Zealand.

These three men have opened the eyes of New Zealanders to the great potential of their rugged athletes with one of the world's finest coaches, Arthur Lydiard, behind them.

So much so, I hear, that New Zealand is at last planning to lay out some cinder tracks.

HK DENTIST BACK FROM UNIVERSITY

Dr Joseph Lam, recent graduate of the College of Dentistry at Baylor University, Texas, returned to the Colony today after an absence of eight years, on board the President Cleveland.

Dr Lam, a graduate of Diocesan Boys' School, was accompanied by his wife and seven-month old daughter, Kerril.

He said that as soon as he is able to settle down he plans to open a dental practice here. He was met on arrival by many relatives and friends.

'Ben Hur' arrives but nobody wants to show it

By ANTHONY FULLER
China Mail film writer

The film "Ben Hur" has arrived in the Colony, not in its full regalia of MGM Camera 65-Technicolor-Panavision, but in the more modest CinemaScope version.

MARYKNOLL FATHER'S SHIPBOARD REUNION

Father James O'Melia of the Maryknoll Fathers Mission in Hongkong, returned to the Colony this morning after holding a reunion with his sister and niece on board the President Cleveland in Yokohama.

Fr O'Melia, who is noted for his study of Cantonese, flew to Japan earlier this month to join the flagship of the APL fleet.

The Maryknoll Father's connection with Hongkong stretches as far back as 1923, when he arrived here on his first assignment with the Mission.

Picking up the threads of the local language, Cantonese, Fr O'Melia began a serious study involving almost three years of research. His results bore fruit in 1939 when he in turn began to teach Cantonese to other Maryknoll Fathers.

Soon after he prepared the first book in English for the study of Cantonese and this has come to be regarded by foreigners as the most authoritative available.

In November 1941, Fr O'Melia left the Colony for the interior and returned in 1945. After a two-year absence from the Colony he returned with the UNTAFA.

In 1956, he came back to Hongkong on yet another assignment for the Maryknoll Mission. The assignment was much to my personal joy as to involve the bringing up to date of the language to meet modern terminology, as well as the introduction of words not known some 20 years ago," he said.

Of the Cantonese language, Fr O'Melia said, "It is a musical and graceful language and, on occasion, more accurate than the English language."

Fr O'Melia's sister is Mrs. James Mehan of Philadelphia, and his niece is Mrs. Daniel Keating of Wynnewood, Pennsylvania, wife of Mr. Daniel Keating, resident of a leading contracting company.

Mr. Keating's company has been connected with such projects as the Oak Ridge Atomic Energy Plant.

Mrs. Mehan and Mrs. Keating will remain in the Colony for four days.

Consular staff return to HK

Mr Sam C. Gilstrap, Deputy Principal Officer of the United States Consulate General in Hongkong and Mr Andrew J. Posty Jr, a political officer in the Consulate, returned with their families in the ss President Cleveland this morning from home leave.

The Queen's Exequatur empowers Mr Josef Horn to act as Honorary Consul-General for Austria has received Her Majesty's signature.

All the same I am sorry to say there is no need to start lining up for tickets, for none of the theatres, at the moment of writing, is anxious to play the film.

In the first place, it would be very difficult to put it on, for the length of the picture is 213 minutes, which means two shows a day. It is merely a matter of arithmetic that seats would cost double the usual prices.

VAST SCALE

But that is not all. When releasing a film on so vast a scale as "Ben Hur" the company reserves a right to state a worldwide policy upon how its film will be played, and what percentage of the box office goes to the company in question.

MGM, after staking several fortunes on the film are asking for the moon, and getting it! Their share of the box-office is 70 per cent. Their policy is take it or leave it. And such theatres as the Empire, Leicester Square, which has already approached the equivalent of US$5 million, are very happy to be allowed to take it.

While Hongkong does very nicely in a local sense for the cinemas, Hongkong's gross takings are very small. In other words, Hongkong at its best can only turn in a few cents compared with every hundred dollars taken in the States.

So no "Ben Hur."

But this policy is to proceed, and the question is, are we going to see such spectacles as "Spartacus" and the "King of Kings" when they come into circulation?

ANXIOUS

The companies concerned must be anxious to show them here, for I have received personal letters from all the producers in question straight from the location sites.

On the other hand, our local exhibitors have demonstrated what happens to such Hongkong cinemas which have screened the vast musical productions, and emerged at the best with a few dollars on the right side of the ledger.

So the position is deadlock. The producers say they will not grant Hongkong special terms. The exhibitors are not prepared to screen on those terms.

Drugs found in the washing

Chen Sui, 60, of 24 Lun Fat-street, third floor, was sentenced to four months jail by Mr T.L. Yang at Causeway Bay Court this morning when he pleaded guilty to possession of five packets of dangerous drugs which were found in the pocket of a child's jacket hanging to dry on the balcony.

BRITAIN SENDS BLANKETS

A total of 500 blankets weighing about a ton arrived this morning by boat from London for distribution to the needy victims of the Hungshou quarter area fire last Monday.

The blankets were collected by the British Red Cross Society Headquarters in London and flown in free by boat's Far East freighter service.

Mrs W. J. D. Cooper, Deputy Director of the Hongkong Branch of the British Red Cross Society and Mrs D. A. E. Mather, Secretary, were at the airport to receive the blankets. The blankets will be distributed to the quarter fire victims at 4 pm today.

American authoress here

Mrs W. Ford Barnes, American authoress of three poems "Silver Century," "Purple Petals," "Crimson Drift," and one recently published novel "West of Glory" arrived aboard s.s. President Cleveland this morning on her way to Bangkok for the purpose of visiting her sister. This is Mrs Barnes' first visit to the East and she expects to leave here on Sunday night.

ANGLICAN FRANCISCAN REVISITS HK

Father Michael Fisher, of the Society of St Francis, arrived this morning from India by Air-India for a three-week return visit to the Anglican Church in Hongkong.

Father Michael was in India five months speaking in various Indian universities there.

He was met at Kai Tak by Bishop R.O. Hall, the Rev. O. Eve, Vicar of St Andrew's Church, and Mrs Till, wife of the Dean of St John's Cathedral.

DAMAGE BY BIG TYPHOON TO BE REPAIRED

Certain sections of Broadwood-road, which were damaged by Typhoon Mary in June last year, are to be repaired. The upper section of the roadway was extensively damaged by the heavy rains and landslides.

Owing to the difficult nature of the ground, it is necessary to build a number of reinforced concrete structures over the damaged road areas.

The repair work, starting in mid-March will take about five months to complete.

Tenders for the repair work are called for in today's Government Gazette.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU

Supervising little boys at their lessons is not a new experience for Mrs Valerie Profumo, wife of the Secretary of State for War, Mr John Profumo. Mrs Profumo, the former stage actress, Valerie Hobson, played the part of Anna in the stage version of "The King and I" in which she became tutor to the children of the King of Siam. It was in that show that she sang to the children the now well-known song "Getting to know you."

Yesterday, Mrs Profumo was watching over other little boys' shoulders when she visited the infants' school at the 2/10 Gurkha Rifles camp at Norwegian Farm. (GHS photo)
